

Police Court—Tuesday Morning, March 10.

There was quite a gay assemblage in the "dock" this morning.

After the usual salutations to the Judge and officers, and quiet was restored in front, Peter Conway was introduced on the charge of running away from his masters. Officers Greco, McGuire and John Lamborne arrested Conway and the negroes on board a barge which was towed to this city by the steamer Coal Hill. The negroes were stowed away in the hull of the barge, where they had been stowed during the trip from Columbus, Ky. There were two men, four women and four children, who belonged to the party in West Tennessee. Their master was killed in the battle of Murfreesboro, when the Federal army took them to Cairo and worked them. Conway purchased all the old iron from the Government and loaded this barge, having permission from Gen. Asboth to ship the old iron to Cincinnati. Conway lives in Newport, Ky. There were twelve of the negroes, but two men made their escape at this place and crossed the river. On account of the absence of important witnesses in the case, it was continued until Friday morning. He was remanded to jail.

Thomas Parent was introduced, charged with shooting James McCue. McCue is not dead, but it is thought that he will die. The case was continued until Thursday morning. The party was remanded.

The next case introduced was Joe Glass, charged with stealing fifty-seven dollars from John Curtis. This case was continued until tomorrow morning.

Charles Wilson was charged with drunkenness. Charles is a paroled prisoner, and got on a bender last night, and was found on the corner of Brook and Market streets. Officer Shindler took him in out of the draft. He was introduced to Colonel Mumford.

Ellen Riley, a good-looking girl, was drunk and disorderly. It took three police men to arrest her; one of them attempted to arrest her, but she soon "cleared him out," and he went off for re-enforcements and returned. They surrounded her and took her. She promised to go to Clarksville to re-join the Twenty-eighth Kentucky regiment. A friend of hers went her bond in $100 for two months.

The performance closed amid shouts of "that's all."

CONTRABANDS ARRESTED.—Monday night the steamer Coal Hill, with two barges in tow, arrived at the foot of Second street from below. One of the barges was freighted with old iron, such as chains, anchors, torpedoes, etc., which was purchased from the Government at Columbus, Ky., by a man named Peter Conway, from Newport, Ky., who bought it for the Globe Works, in Cincinnati. Officers Henry Green, McGuire, and John Lamborne received information to the effect that the barge had a lot of stolen negroes on board; and they went to the barge and found two negro men, four women, and four children, all snugly secreted in the hull of the barge. There were two other negro men who made their escape. The officers, upon making inquiry, learned that Conway owned the barges, who said "that if he got the negroes to Cincinnati he didn't care a d—n what came of them." The negroes said they belonged to him. The officers arrested the whole party, including Conway, and took them off the barge, bringing them up to the city court-room, and putting Conway in jail. Yesterday he was introduced in the Police Court, and stated that the military officers at Columbus, Ky., had forced him to take them on board his barge against his will. He had a permit signed by Gen. Asboth, Capt. Lyman and Gen. Wright, to ship the iron to Cincinnati, but it seems he didn't get a permit to engage in the contraband business. The Captain of the Coal Hill had nothing to do with the affair, and stated to the officers that Conway engaged in the business on his own responsibility. The negroes are very well clad, and look hearty. They belong to different parties in West Tennessee, who, one of them states, are rebels, and some of their masters were killed in the battle of Murfreesboro. On account of the absence of important witnesses, the case was continued until Friday morning, and Conway was remanded to jail. The negroes will be taken care of. This operation is not a paying one, and the officers who made the arrest deserve much credit for their interference in the affair and the arrest of all concerned.
